RÉCIT DU PÊCHEUR

Andante molto tranquillo. (M ♩ = 44)
m.d. Sopra

MANUEL de FALLA.

The musical score is written for piano and mezzo-soprano. It consists of five systems of music. The piano part is written in a 3/4 time signature with a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The vocal line is written in a soprano clef. The score includes various dynamics such as pp, mf, p, and pp, and tempo markings including poco rit., a tempo, and breve. The piano part features complex textures with arpeggiated chords and flowing lines, while the vocal line is more melodic and expressive.

A MONUMENTAL WORK ON PIANO-PLAYING

Wassili Safonoff, the author of the "New Formula" for developing Pianoforte technique, was a master of masters. He taught Scriabin, Metner, Rachmaninov and other celebrities to play the piano, he held high office at the greatest Conservatoires in Moscow and Petrograd. He was received with enthusiasm as a conductor in every capital of Europe.

Unlike many other pianists who are unable to explain or account for their extraordinary technique, Safonoff was able to reduce the elements of piano playing to a concise and lucid formula.

The "New Formula" is a master work, embodying the experience of a lifetime. No pianist should be without it. It throws a great deal of fresh light on some of the most important principles that lie at the root of technical mastery. It is so brief that it can be read from cover to cover in a few minutes. Yet the pithy principles, examples, and exercises it unfolds do far more to develop technical brilliance than many a book of larger proportions.

Safonoff's "New Formula" is so clear that it needs no interpreter.

SAFONOFF'S NEW FORMULA FOR THE PIANO TEACHER AND PIANO STUDENT

The "New Formula" enables the advanced pupil to acquire and maintain complete independence of the fingers, evenness of touch, agility, and beauty of tone. It gives exercises which are in reality formulas, which are the result of years of research in the attainment of a rich and pure tone on the piano. It gives suggestions for infinite variety in the exercises, and it aims at the greatest possible economy of time and strength. The attention of the player is held continuously, without tiring the ear, so that the exercises cannot possibly be played mechanically. The exercises are brain exercises, as well as finger studies, a constant "telegraphy" being maintained between the brain and the finger tips. A feature of the book is a series of "rhythmatized" scales of unusual interest and value. Perfect looseness and elasticity of the hands is aimed at throughout.

Mr. ERNEST FOWLES, F.R.A.M., says :

"M. Safonoff has evidently plumbed every depth of difficulty which lies in the path of the would-be pianoforte player; and in his possession of true insight, he stands somewhat apart from those artists who are unable to analyse the methods by which they rose to excellence. . . . To the student who has already grasped experimentally the whole theory of key-treatment from the mental-muscular point of view . . . Safonoff's 'New Formula' can be productive of nothing if not of high value in respect to the purpose for which it has been designed. . . . The book is not the result of immature or unsystematized thought, but, on the contrary, is the expressed opinion of one who has laboured diligently in the field of art."

Every Piano Teacher, Advanced Student, and Would-Be Virtuoso needs this wonderfully practical book
