“Right Forward” (1881)

“Guide Right” and “Right Forward,” a pair of parade marches composed in 1881, have marching commands for their titles. Both were dedicated to a Marine Captain R. S. Collum, presumably a friend of Sousa’s in Washington, D.C.

Editorial Notes

Throughout Sousa’s career as a conductor, he often altered the performance of his marches without marking or changing the printed music. These alterations were designed for concert performances and included varying dynamics and omitting certain instruments on repeated strains to expand the range of the musical textures, as well as adding unscripted percussion accents for dramatic emphasis at key points in the music. Although Sousa never documented his performance techniques himself, several players who worked extensively with Sousa provided directions for his frequently performed marches, most notably cornetist Frank Simon. Sousa continued to conduct many of his earlier marches later in his career with these unique alterations, but he rarely returned to several of the marches composed between 1873 and 1880. Although no written confirmation exists for how Sousa might have performed these earliest compositions, select elements of his typical performance practices can also be applied to these marches.

The Complete Marches of John Philip Sousa appears in chronological order and is based on some of the earliest known sources for each composition. These newly edited full scores correct many mistakes and inconsistencies found in the parts of early publications; however, all remaining markings and the original scoring are preserved. Additionally, the alterations traditionally employed by the United States Marine Band in performance are incorporated throughout; either those specifically documented by Sousa’s musicians or changes modeled on the customary practices of “The March King.”

Performance practices that deviate from the original printed indications are described below and appear in [brackets] in the score. In many instances these indications appear side-by-side with the original markings. An open diamond marked with an accent in the cymbal part indicates that the cymbal player should let that accent ring for an additional beat before rejoining the bass drum part.

Second strain (m. 22-38): Added percussion accents are appropriate on beats two of m. 22-23 and 30-31.

Trio (m. 43-60): This trio should be played piano both times through, with piccolo, E-flat clarinet, cornets and trombones tacet. The percussion parts are somewhat unusual in this Trio and may be preserved but played second time only to vary the texture on the repeat.

Final strain (m. 60-end): This strain may be played mezzo-piano first time with piccolo, E-flat clarinet, cornets, and trombones remaining tacet. Additionally, first clarinets should play down one octave the first time as indicated in the cued notes. The printed crescendos may be performed both times, with the first time leading to a forte before the first ending. All instruments rejoin in the first ending at fortissimo, and percussion accents may be added second time through at m. 64 and 72.

Detailed description: This page of a full score for 'RIGHT FORWARD' covers measures 30 through 38. It features 15 staves for various instruments: Flute/Piccolo, Oboe, E-flat Clarinet, First Clarinet, Second Clarinet, Bassoon, E-flat Cor Anglais, Solo B-flat Cor Anglais, First B-flat Cor Anglais, Second and Third B-flat Cors Anglais, First Horn, Second and Third Horns, Baritone, First and Second Trombones, Bass Trombone, Tuba, and Percussion. The music is in 4/4 time with a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat). Measures 30-36 show a steady melodic and harmonic progression across the woodwinds and brass. Measure 37 is a first ending with a complex sixteenth-note passage in the woodwinds and a similar passage in the brass. Measure 38 is a second ending, marked with a forte dynamic [f]. The percussion part consists of rhythmic patterns and sustained chords.
