

Duration = 2'34"

No. 61 from WOODLAND WARBLINGS
The Green Lanes of England

Words by Charles Mackay
(1814-1889)

Music by Joseph Philbrick Webster
(1819-1875)

Complimentary Parts by Benjamin Robert Tubb

[♩ = 100]

Piano

Acoustic Bass

Drum Set

COMPLEMENTARY PARTS

10

1. Through the green lanes of Eng - land the long sum - mer's day We — wan - der'd at
2. But the green lanes of Eng - land though dear to us then, Were — dear - er by
3. Ye — green lanes of Eng - land, wher - ev - er we roam Ye are linked to our

Bs

D.
S.

The Green Lanes of England

16

will, — in our youth's mer-ry may; We — ga - ther'd the blooms o'er the far — when we grew to be men; When the heart's first e - mo - - tions were hearts, with the mem - 'ries of home; With the sports of our child - hood, the hedge - rows that hung, Or — mocked the sweet song that the Night - in - gale — fer - - vent and pure, And the world had no grief that a smile — could not love of our prime, And the pen - sive de - - - lights of a so - - - ber - er

21

The Green Lanes of England

26

sung; In the au - tumn we knew — where the black - ber - ries grew And the cure; 'Twas be - neath the green leaves, in the calm sum - mer eves, That we time: O - ther lands may be fair, — with their balm breath - ing air, And their

Bs

D.
S.

31

sky ha - zel nuts hid - den deep — in the shade, Or with shout - ing and cheer when the breathed the young hopes in our bos - omes that burned; Or in love's gen - tle eyes, read the beau - - ties and gran - deur that charm or ap - pall; But to young and to old, till our

Bs

D.
S.

The Green Lanes of England

37

Christ - mas drew near. In search of the ripe rud - dy hol - ly we strayed.
ten - der re - plies That showed the fond pas - sion. we fond - ly re - turned.
hearts shall grow cold, Shall the green lanes of Eng - land, be dear - er than all.

43

Ped. * Ped. * Ped. * Ped. * Ped. *

Benjamin Robert Tubb, Finale Engraver
Thursday, 24 March 2011