The first system of music consists of two staves. The treble staff contains a series of chords and single notes, with some notes beamed together. The bass staff features a rhythmic accompaniment with chords and single notes, including some triplets.

The second system includes dynamic markings. The treble staff has a first ending marked '1' and a second ending marked '2'. The bass staff has a first ending marked '4'. Dynamic markings include ff (fortissimo) and p (piano). There are also accents and slurs throughout the system.

The third system continues the musical piece with similar rhythmic patterns in both staves. The bass staff has a consistent accompaniment with chords and single notes, while the treble staff has a more melodic line with some rests.

The fourth system shows a variety of note values and rests. The treble staff has a melodic line with some long notes and rests. The bass staff has a rhythmic accompaniment with chords and single notes.

The fifth system includes a fifth ending marked '5' in the treble staff. The bass staff continues with its rhythmic accompaniment. There are also slurs and accents in the treble staff.

The sixth system concludes the page with various notes and rests. The treble staff has a melodic line with some long notes and rests. The bass staff has a rhythmic accompaniment with chords and single notes.

First system of musical notation, featuring a grand staff with treble and bass clefs. The music is in a key with three flats and a 3/4 time signature. It begins with a repeat sign. The bass line contains several eighth-note patterns, while the treble line has chords and rests.

Second system of musical notation. The bass line continues with eighth-note patterns, and the treble line features a melodic line with slurs and accents.

Third system of musical notation. The bass line has a few notes, while the treble line has a more active melodic line with slurs and accents.

Fourth system of musical notation. The bass line has a few notes, while the treble line has a more active melodic line with slurs and accents.

Fifth system of musical notation. The bass line has a few notes, while the treble line has a more active melodic line with slurs and accents. The system concludes with the instruction ff grandioso. and marcato il bassi.

First system of musical notation, featuring a treble and bass clef. The treble staff contains a melodic line with a long slur and several accents. The bass staff contains a rhythmic accompaniment with chords and moving lines.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. It includes various musical notations such as slurs, accents, and dynamic markings.

Third system of musical notation, showing further development of the musical themes in both staves.

Fourth system of musical notation, featuring complex rhythmic patterns and melodic lines.

Fifth system of musical notation, concluding the page with a double bar line and first/second endings.

SOUSA NUMBERS

Lieut. Comm. John Philip Sousa has won the hearts of thousands with his virile Marches. His music so typifies American spirit that his famous "Stars and Stripes Forever" is by popular acclaim the National March of the United States.
