KNEISEL COLLECTION for Violin and Piano

Selections from the Masters, Old and New, edited by FRANZ KNEISEL
 A notable issue for Violinists are these really superb books, a gathering into practical and permanent form of Violin Master Pieces, Some Old, Some Modern, Some Familiar, Others Rare.

The discriminating choice of the editor clearly justifies the right to the existence of this new series. The present collection includes compositions by Bach, Bazzini, Beethoven, Brahms, Codard, Goldmark, Guiraud, Handel, Hubay, Joachim, Lalo, Laub, Lauterbach, Locatelli, Lully, Paganini, Renard, Saint-Saëns, Sarasate, Schubert, Senaille, Spohr, Tartini, Tenaglia, Tchaikowski, Vieuxtemps, Veracini.
 In their scope, adaptability and authoritative editing, the Kneisel Folios are the best collections seen for many a day. The editor combines the older classics with the best of the modern. This is the first time Mr. Kneisel has lent his name to any line of work far-reaching in its teaching import. His long career as an artist, teacher, soloist and quartet player fits him especially to give to this present work a peculiar and lasting value. We now assume that he is a transplanted American, interested in our art-life and ideals to such an extent as to wish to enlarge his influence in new channels. The student of the Kneisel Collections starts out confident that the editor speaks with authority.
 Close attention has been given to every detail of fingering, bowing, phrasing and to book-making, presenting a series alike artistic and durable.

A DAY IN VENICE ETHELBERT NEVIN'S ROMANTIC SUITE

Transcribed for the VIOLIN AND PIANO by T. Adamowski

CONTENTS—Dawn. The Gondoliers. Venetian Love Song. Goodnight,

In this suite the author achieved the happiest expression of his genius. The music has the sparkle and the thrill, all mingled in an infinite charm, making an impression of lasting sweetness and pleasure. While it is daring to say that this new arrangement lends a new freshness, vigor and fervor to this charming suite, it is ever an expression of the graceful beauty and harmonic charm of the original. . . . .
