Arranger, Composer, Director, Interpreter, Teacher

Antigua-et-Barbuda, St. John's

About the artist

J'moul A. Francis started playing the piano at age 11 with the Trinity Guildhall Music Board until he completed the advanced level exam. With age, comes maturity and competence; thus, he served as the senior pianist of the New Maranatha Seventh-day Adventist Church in Belmonte, Antigua for nearly a decade. His duties there included managing, supervising, and training other musicians and choristers, along with spearheading and planning music events. He also served as the pianist or organist for most national church conventions for the Seventh-day Adventist Church when called upon to do so.

In 2009, he joined the Potters Youth Group where he served as an Assistant Pianist, Assistant Director, and Adjunct Conductor. His responsibilities included supervising the tenor and bass sections of Potters Youth and Senior choirs. He also advised the Chairperson on the selection of the group's repertoire and transcribed pieces for the choir.

 Antigua Land! Thy children love thee well, Thy hills and vales! Thy flowerets in the dell, All sing thy praise in charming melody, Of music soft descending from the sky. Thine are the halls of triumphs and of fame, No island bore a more majestic name, Than thou, my land of beauty and of grace, Moulded by God, and by Him set in place. Antigua mine, you long were kept a slave, But freed from fet... (more online)
